As is well known by most of the people in this vicinity, the 300 acre farm of B. Ensley & Son, six miles southwest of Howard City, is one of the best and most finely equipped of any in central or northern Michigan. The buildings, of which there are nearly enough to make a small village, are all built in the best of style, substantial and convenient, all painted and placed upon solid stone walls, and it will surprise many to hear that he has decided to offer this magnificent farm for rent to some thoroughly reliable and progressive man. The farm comprises 300 acres, of which from 200 to 250 acres are seeded down. There are barns and sheds in profusion the shed room amounting to over 600 feet. The storage capacity of his mammoth cellars is 30,000 bushels. The farm produced this year 250 tons of hay. There are nine head of horses, fifty head of cattle and forty head of hogs, and all kinds of farm machinery and tools necessary to conducting a farm of this magnitude. During the fall of 1888 Mr. Ensley had nearly a hundred different photographic views made of his farm showing all of the buildings, orchards, fields of growing and harvested crops, stock, etc. These he has had bound in album form and they can be seen by those interested in this matter. Further particulars may be obtained by addressing,
